

Student Registration Instructions for Canvas – University of Florida (Physics)

Getting Started: See steps below for registering and using Expert TA.

From inside of Canvas, go to an available assignment that uses Expert TA and open it. This action brings you directly to the take assignment page. This automatically registers you in Expert TA, so Canvas will be your primary springboard for accessing our system for the spring 2022 term.

Check-out. You will not be able to do homework until you complete the payment process. - You will need to click on the check box to confirm that you are purchasing access for the class listed (PHY2053).

- After you have clicked the check box, you will choose your method of payment. If you are using a credit card to pay now, click “Credit Card”. The option for a “free 14-day” Trial will allow you to delay your payment for exactly two weeks. If trial is chosen, you will be able to do homework immediately, and asked to make your actual payment with a credit card after the trial period has ended. You can also use a bookstore code that you purchased as your method of payment, if available at your school.

Payment with a Credit Card - After clicking “Credit Card” you will be redirected from our site to Authorize.net - Authorize.net is an industry leader in secure payments and used by tens of thousands of companies. - Enter your credit card information. Note: Pay careful attention when entering information into each field, including street address and CVV code boxes. Address fields can be particularly tricky.

Registration is Complete and you are done! You will be directed to your assignment to begin your work.

As you work problems, your scores are ported back over to Canvas within a few minutes at a time. All homework will be saved as it is completed, allowing you to leave and come back if/when necessary.

Verify your email. You will see information at the top of the page each time you are redirected from Canvas into Expert TA, including the email address our system captured for you. This is your username and how we uniquely identify you in our system. If for some reason your email in Canvas changes, this can cause issues. Be sure to verify your email from time to time to make sure it's unchanged.

Do I need a password? No, because you log into Canvas to start the homework, you will never access Expert TA directly from our login page, as your password is handled and managed via Canvas at all times.

Can I study from previously taken assignments? Yes, if you want to visit Expert TA for additional practice, or to study, or see solutions if allowed, then you can go into the system from an older assignment link, then navigate manually outside of the take assignment area to the Class Management page, which is your dashboard. All assignments that are allowed to be viewed up to that point, are shown/listed here. Click the assignment name and choose the appropriate action from there.

FAQs. Hints and Feedback are provided throughout the term while taking assignments. Hints are generalized tips, whereas feedback is always meaningful & based on your most recent incorrect answer.
